

Cut out the truth and lies monster and put them in your home in a place where your child can see them on a daily basis. This will help to remind them that it's not good to tell lies and you can always make things better by telling the truth.